PARKER

Denies That Standard Oil Influences

ARE CONTRIBUTING IN HIS BEHALF IN ANY WAY

Presidential Candidate in the Nutmeg State.

GREETED BY IMMENSE CROWDS

Splendid Speech Delivered Last Night.

Outline of Address at Hartford, Connecticut.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 4.—Four enthusiastic audiences greeted Judge Parker on his only visit to the state in the campaign, and in several other places throughout which his special train passed he was given rousing impromptu welcomes. The principal speech of the trip was in this city last night, though other receptions were held in Bridgeport, New Haven and at Meriden. This speech dealt with the question of the combines, and the candidate refuted the charge that the Standard Oil company is the financial sponsor of the Democratic party, and charged that the company's interests are with the Republican party.

The meeting in this city was one of the greatest of the campaign in this state. Judge Parker paid a high compliment to Connecticut citizenship in his Hartford speech. He said in opening: "While it is like preaching to the converted, I find myself now speaking of the homely virtues in what may be called the nursery of industry, of thrift, and of honesty in affairs, both public and private. The regard for peace, the love of truth, the sense of fairness, and, best of all, persistence and patience in their application to great problems, have here found conspicuous illustration.

"Our place in the world, both as a people and a nation, has been made by these qualities, and if we are to maintain our position it will depend upon their continuance. No outward display of physical force by a nation, no more than by individual, will enable it to advance.

"If we have by their practice come from small beginnings, through hard conditions and out of simple surroundings, and have overcome all the drawbacks incident to the pioneer work of humanity, then they are the more necessary when we have become numerous, wealthy and powerful. Sight should never be lost of the fact that the obligations of peoples, like those of individuals, increase with their opportunities.

"You in Connecticut and our neighbors along the New England coast realize perhaps better than any other part of our people, what foreign trade means. From the earliest times of our history our ancestors braved the perils of the sea to satisfy their desire for adventure and in obedience to that law of supply and demand, which, under normal conditions, must regulate exchanges between the different countries of the world. They knew what it was to have ships with thrifty, prudent captains, who, with the spirit of equality, shared, year by year, with their daring and industrious crews the profit of voyages to the East. One of the great statements of our time, looking forward in imagination to the building of a Pacific railroad, said: 'There lies the east, there lies India.' Long before this time the people of New England and our Atlantic coast had realized this great fact that its realities were not new to them.

"The time has again come when we need ships of our own, but they should be built, not at the cost of the government, not from taxes drawn from all the people, but as a result of the enterprise of our people. They should be designed and constructed by the ingenuity of our builders, operated by our seamen and owned by our people. Every landing place along these limitless coasts of ours ought to be a nursery, however rude, for the sailor. Our products sent to other countries should be carried in American bottoms and that almost infinite demand by our people for the products of other countries should enable us to bring them everything that their material comfort, education and progress makes it necessary or desirable for them to use.

"You have recently had an illustration of what enterprise, inventive ingenuity and labor can do. From the city of New London there has just

BATTLE

FOUGHT BY AN AMERICAN WITH SCORE OF ITALIANS.

Mr. Dean Killed One and Fatally Injured Another Before Losing Consciousness.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 4.—One American, with a seven-shooter, fought a bloody battle against a score of frenzied Italian laborers in a swamp, a few miles east of the village of Egypt this morning. The American, named Dean, of Tennessee, foreman of a gang of laborers on the tracks of the Rochester and Syracuse electric railway, killed an Italian and mortally wounded another before he sank bleeding from a hundred or more cuts inflicted by stilettoes and razors of the foreigners. His death is expected. When the men reported this morning Dean ordered them to push the work along through the swamp. The Italians refused, saying they had no hip boots and would not work in the water. Dean hesitated. The Italians advanced in a body flourishing stilettoes and razors. Dean retreated down the track until his flight was headed off by three Italians, who had circled around and came up on him from the rear. Dean's face and body were literally cut into strips but he fought desperately until consciousness left him.

HUNDRED DROWN IN A COLLISION THIS MORNING

Two Vessels Gironde and the Shaffino.

Collided Off the Algerian Coast Today. Gironde Sank—Meagre Report of Disaster.

Bone, Algeria, Nov. 4.—(Bulletin)—The steamers Gironde and Shaffino collided off the Algerian coast today. The Gironde sank. One hundred people are reported to have been drowned. The Gironde had not left port over two hours, when the catastrophe happened. On account of the vessel sinking immediately and the possibility of the other ship having foundered, it now seems probable that the loss of life may have been greater than at first estimated. Some passengers of the vessel were asleep at the time and drowned like rats in a trap. One of these was rescued in a small boat. He tells of a mother being killed with the blade of an oar. She gathered her two children in her arms when the crash came and leaped into the sea. On coming to the top the woman, still clinging to one of her babies, grasped the gunwale of an already overcrowded boat. The crew split the woman's skull with an oar. The effort cast the lives of the entire boat's crew, for the craft turned over and its occupants were lost in the sea.

SCISSORS

Borrowed by Women at Theatre to Make Gowns Conform to Emperor's Order.

Berlin, Nov. 4.—At an opera performance here last night at which the emperor himself was present, many women were refused admission because they wore high necked gowns instead of low neck, his majesty having commanded that full evening dress be worn whenever he attends the opera. Many of the women borrowed scissors from attendants and clipped their bodices to meet the requirements. There were some amusing and some painful scenes in the corridors and ante-rooms where the floors were strewn with fragments of women's apparel.

RUMOR

That Chief Justice Fuller Will Soon Retire From the Supreme Court Bench.

Washington, Nov. 4.—If the rumor, now revived, that Chief Justice Fuller is soon to retire from the Supreme court bench, shall prove correct, a new precedent will have been established. No chief justice has ever resigned. All have died on the bench. Chief Justice Fuller will be 72 years old on February 11, and will then be entitled to retire with a $10,000 pension.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Deputy Sheriff Henry Kellerhouse and Jacob Duntz, of Gallatin, were found dead in the Harmony Hotel at Cohoes this morning. They had blown out the gas and were asphyxiated.

BACK TO ITALY GOES A RELIC FROM MORGAN

Cope Stolen from Ascoli Cathedral.

Has Been Presented to Italian Government by John P. Morgan—Priceless Work.

New York, Nov. 4.—The ancient ecclesiastical cope which was stolen from the Cathedral of Ascoli, Italy, two years ago, and later purchased by J. P. Morgan, has been presented to the Italian Government by Mr. Morgan. The presentation was made through Baron Edmondo Des Planches, the Italian Ambassador, who called by appointment on Mr. Morgan in this city. The cope is now in the Victoria and Albert Museum at South Kensington, England, to which it was loaned by Mr. Morgan.

In announcing that the precious relic was to be presented to his Government Baron Des Planches paid a high compliment to Mr. Morgan, and said that the importance of the event from an Italian point of view could not be overestimated.

"The announcement will be received with the keenest satisfaction by all Italians," said the Ambassador. "The delicacy of the situation which followed the purchase of the cope by Mr. Morgan was fully realized, and his voluntary offer to present the relic to the Italian Government was gladly accepted. It was a most gracious act upon Mr. Morgan's part, and will win for him the gratitude of the whole Italian people."

Ambassador Des Planches said that shortly after he was invited by this Government to open negotiations with Mr. Morgan looking to the eventual return of the cope the latter intimated that if only he could be sure that the relic was stolen he would not hesitate in placing it in the hands of its owners. Finally the meeting between the Ambassador and Mr. Morgan was arranged. Mr. Morgan then announced his decision. He said that he felt justified in making the purchase at the time he did. He had no reason to question the right of possession to the relic from the person from whom he made the purchase, and it was received by him and loaned to the Victoria and Albert Museum in good faith. He valued the possession very highly, but in view of the discussion and question of rightful possession which had arisen he had determined to settle the entire matter by presenting it to the Italian Government.

Some time may elapse before the relic actually comes into possession of the government, said the Ambassador, as it must be released from the museum at South Kensington in the usual manner.

The cope was presented by Pope Nicholas IV. to Ascoli, his native place. It is a French work of the thirteenth century, and is one of the finest specimens of art of that period that have been preserved. It was in 1902 that the cope was stolen from the Cathedral of Ascoli, while repairs were being made on the building. Every effort to trace it or discover the thieves failed until last July, when a letter appeared in the Giornale d'Italia, from Signor Ricci, the director of the galleries of Florence, saying that the cope was on exhibition at the South Kensington Museum, where it appeared as the property of "a well-known American collector." A month later a sensation was caused at Ascoli when Mgr. Sanlaurelli, the rector, and several priests, were summoned to appear before the court which was investigating the theft of the cope.

Two days later Rocchigiani, a photographer who had been arrested in connection with the case, had committed suicide by hanging in his cell. Rocchigiani left a note saying that he was innocent and intimating that the real thief was one high in Italian circles. The search for the culprit or culprits has since been conducted with considerable care, but no trace has been obtained.

TWO MORTGAGES

Given by Columbus, Delaware and Marion to Cover Bond Issues.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—The Columbus Delaware and Marion railway company has filed a mortgage for $2,000,000 to the Mercantile Trust company of New York. The mortgage covers the railway, franchise, right of way and all real and personal property and is given to secure the payment of 2000 5 per cent gold bonds running for 40 years. A second mortgage for $750,000 was given to the Standard Trust company of New York which is to secure 200 bonds of $1,500 denomination payable in 1931.

Berlin, Nov. 4.—It is learned that the arbitration treaty will shortly be concluded between Germany and the United States of America.

Motor cars intended for desert traveling will arrive at Khartoum soon.

MASKED MEN

ROBBED A VILLAGE BANK OF A LARGE SUM.

Citizens Followed the Robbers Who Dropped Part of the Money—A Posse in Pursuit.

Buhalo, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Four masked men entered James L. Bladgett's private bank at Hermitage near Warsaw, last night, blew the safe with dynamite and stole $25,000 or $30,000. The explosion awoke Miles P. Smith, living near. He looked through a window in time to see four men hurrying from the bank, their arms and hands filled with bags of money. Smith pursued the thieves in night attire. The robbers fired several ineffectual shots at him. The bandits dropped several bags of money, the amount of which is not ascertained. The cries of Smith aroused the whole town. A posse was organized and is now in pursuit. Banker Bladgett several years ago was robbed of $12,000 kept in his house. This was his excuse for establishing a private bank.

MADE TO WRECK A TRAIN ON B. & O. ROAD.

Big Tree and Pile of Stones Placed on Track—Engine Damaged But Nobody Killed.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 4.—An attempt was made last night to wreck B. & O. train No. 1 between here and Winchester. A cedar tree and a large pile of stones were placed on the track and the engine was badly damaged. No one was killed. A special train came to Charleston and took bloodhounds to the scene. Owing to misting rain and fogs, the dogs failed to track the would be train wreckers.

AIRSHIP

FOUND SIXTEEN MILES FROM ST. LOUIS ANCHORED TO TREE.

Machine Was Unharmed and Will Be Ready for Another Flight by Tomorrow Afternoon.

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—The airship of Captain J. S. Baldwin which suddenly slipped away last Wednesday night as it was being towed in from the country to the aeronautic concourse, was found 16 miles west of St. Louis. It was unharmed by its wild flight save for two small rents in the gas bag which Captain Baldwin stated could be repaired in half an hour.

After floating in the wind for 16 miles, the airship came down to within a short distance of the ground and her anchor rope became entangled in the dead limb of a tree. It served as an anchor and the airship was found so moored in a cornfield by a farmer.

Word reached Captain Baldwin late in the day that his airship had been found. He and Aeronaut Knabenstue hurried to the scene in an automobile and were rejoiced to find the aerial craft uninjured with the exception of the small holes in the balloon.

The balloon was deflated and after negotiations had been completed with a farmer, the collapsed airship was loaded onto a hay wagon and brought back to the exposition aerodrome.

Captain Baldwin says that he expects to have the airship in readiness for a flight by Saturday afternoon.

CONFERENCE

Called for Today, to Consider Measures for Ending the Engineers' Strike.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4.—In order that the 50,000 members of their organization may be put to work as soon as possible, the Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America has arranged for today a meeting between the striking hoisting engineers and the mine operators. G. A. Garrison of Peoria, president of the Illinois Operators' Association, and Mack Taylor of Danville, state president of the Hoisting Engineers' Union, last night when their acceptance of an invitation to attend the joint session in Springfield with a view to ending the engineers' strike.

The miners suffer greater hardships than the engineers, as only a small per cent of the total number of miners employed in Illinois are at work, because the strike of the engineers has closed the mines. They have no resources against the operators, and for this reason the executive board took a hand, and will do all in its power to end the difficulty.

BANDITS FAILED TO MAKE HAUL IN POSTOFFICE

And Jumped Into Arms of the Police.

Stole Horses With Which They Left Strasburg—Three Men Were Captured.

AND JUMPED INTO ARMS OF THE POLICE

Canal Dover, C., Nov. 4.—Postoffice robbery and horse stealing was the double turn done by four men at Strasburg, six miles north of this city yesterday. At about 1 o'clock three men entered the postoffice, and in order to escape from the village after they had secured their booty, stole three horses and a carriage in which they rode out of town.

Assistant Postmaster Zeigler habitually deposits the money, stamps and other valuables in the village bank each evening, and the previous night he had placed eight pennies and a registered letter in a drawer of the safe. The latter was unlocked as it was only used for the purpose of keeping books and papers protected from fire. After ransacking the entire building the men secured nothing more than the contents of the drawer of the safe and escaped from the room in time to be seen by a man living across the street.

An alarm was given but before a posse could be formed, the men had escaped. An accomplice awaited them three doors from the postoffice and the departure of the four men was effected by means of a team of horses and a surrey. The fourth man had evidently learned the lay of the land, as he piloted the robbers to the barn of John Hoopingardner, where a team of horses was secured. These were hurriedly driven to another part of the town where the barn of Albert Garver was entered and another horse stolen. In another barn the surrey and harness were taken and the team of horses hitched up.

The men then started toward this city, and when about a mile south of Strasburg the third horse was released. Near here they were met by a party of early travelers, who, suspecting the men of being guilty of wrongdoing, started in pursuit. They were soon outdistanced, however, and gave up the chase.

The Canal Dover and New Philadelphia police were notified, and at once prepared to intercept the fugitives at the latter place. The police were on their trail and at one time it seemed as if they would overtake them. They escaped, however, and a few hours later four men were seen to board a south bound freight train near Chubb'sville. The police in every town along the line were notified and a constant vigilance was maintained throughout the morning.

At St. Clairsville two of them jumped off the train into the waiting arms of the police of that city, who had been expecting their arrival. The two others continued on to Bridgeport, where they were taken from the train. The quartet will be brought back to Tuscarawas county, where they will be given a trial. The horses and carriage were found this afternoon in an abandoned roadway a few miles north of Chubb'sville.

The men taken at St. Clairsville were identified as "Pop" Shipman and Will Murphy, of Martin's Ferry. Burglars, tools and some nitroglycerine were found on them. The other men were Clyde Hawly of Bellaire, and James M. Laughlin, of Niles, O. At Bridgeport the latter two drew guns when the officers went after them and several shots were exchanged with the officers before they were placed under arrest. It is said that all are well known criminals and waited for other offenses.

GIRL MURDERED AT CINCINNATI CASE A MYSTERY

Body Found in Vacant Lot in Queen City.

Young Telephone Operator, Miss Alma Steinway, Badly Crushed About the Head.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Terribly cut and crushed about the head, the dead body of Alma Steinway, a telephone operator, 18, was found in a vacant lot near the Spring Grove cemetery at Winton Place, a suburb. While there are male fingerprints in the trail where the body was found, there is no clue to the murderer. The girl left the telephone office at Cumminsville at 9 p. m., and her body was found in the lot near the cemetery in the morning. Her head and face had been crushed by a blow from a blunt instrument. From the place where the body was found a bloodstained trail marked the path along which the body had been dragged. Along this trail were found the imprint of heavy boots, apparently those of the murderer. No other injuries were found on the body except the wounds on the head.

It is believed the girl was waiting for a Winton road car when attacked. The dead girl was a member of the Episcopal church choir at Winton Place and highly respected. Conductor Frank Limle told the police that Alma Steinway got on his car at Knowlton corner, accompanied by a man. The couple rode to Winton road and got off. He said the man had frequently ridden with Miss Steinway. Limle said the man was about 35 years old and that he could identify him if he saw him again.

WOMAN

Arrested This Morning on the Charge of Murdering Chinaman in New York.

New York, Nov. 4.—Charged with the murder of Tim Wokee, a Chinaman this morning Miss Mollie Donegan, 22, claiming a residence on Ray street, Philadelphia, will be arraigned in Jefferson street police court today, in her condition will permit.

According to the police, Miss Donegan came to New York and paid a visit to Wokee. As she had no place to reside she concluded to spend the night in the Chinaman's place. This morning Wokee awoke and found the woman searching his clothes. Upon being discovered the woman grabbed a cleaver and struck Wokee nine times on the head. After a desperate struggle the Chinaman got the cleaver and slashed the woman several times. Police were called and both Wokee and Miss Donegan were taken to the hospital.

Columbus, Nov. 4.—The law provided for the holding of the polls on election day in Cleveland and Cleveland at 1 o'clock, was before the Supreme court today. The court decided the Cleveland case this morning. The Supreme court reversed the Cuyahoga court, dismissing the suit started in Cleveland.

Columbus, Nov. 4.—Judge Dissett's decision in Cleveland, suspending the taking of depositions in the "Electric Motor" case will stand. The Supreme court this morning denied the motion of Attorney Protasow for an alternative writ of mandamus looking towards compelling Judge Dissett to vacate the deposition order.

American Commander Folger Refused to Fire Salute on Birthday of the Mikado.

London, Nov. 4.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says Lieutenant General Stossel, commander of the Russian troops at Port Arthur, is reported to be wounded in the leg.

The Daily Telegraph's Chefoo correspondent reports that the Japanese losses during the last assault on Port Arthur were heavier than on any of the previous attacks. The bombardment, he says, was so fierce that the streets of Dainy were said to tremble as though from an earthquake. The same paper's correspondent with General Oku, under date of Nov. 2, says that the indications are that a terrific engagement is about to commence.

GENERAL ANATOL M. STOSSEL.

The Japs occupy positions which place the east side of Port Arthur at their mercy. The last assault gained for them positions which insure their ability to enter the main east forts whenever they are ready. The Japanese have not occupied the main forts and highest points of the east hills, but they occupy in overwhelming numbers positions which it is claimed will enable them to drive the Russians back whenever they desire. Japanese arriving from Dainy report that the Japanese captured Rihlung mountain and Singshu mountain, which lies between the railroad and Rihlung mountain. They also report that the Japanese captured East Keelwan mountain.

DESTRUCTION

Of the Battleship Yashima Admitted By the Japanese.

Paris, Nov. 4.—Dispatches from Chetow, Port Arthur, and Tokyo last June, to the effect that the Japanese battleship Yashima had been sunk by a mine off Dainy, which dispatches were denied by the Japanese authorities at the time, have finally been officially confirmed. The Japanese government has notified foreign governments of the loss of the ship. The number of men who went down with the vessel is not known. The official dispatches state that the Yashima struck a Russian mine and later attempted to raise. Dainy harbor but this proved impossible and she sank in deep water. Admiral Togo has only four modern battleships remaining. The Russian squadron at Port Arthur includes five modern battleships, more or less damaged, and Rear Admiral Rojestvensky's command, which is now en route from the Baltic to the far east, also numbers five battleships. In view of the inferiority of the Japanese in battleships, their armored cruiser strength is important, they being greatly superior to the Russian in this respect.

North Sea Court of Inquiry.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—Negotiations regarding the North sea court of inquiry have not yet been concluded. The present position is as follows: The terms of the draft of the treaty for the constitution of the court are under consideration by the emperor, who may desire some modifications. In Office Building Newly Finished.

Utica Factory News.Utica, Nov. 4.—On account of the impossibility of getting a tank at the Central glass factory completed for operation before March, which would cause the workmen to lose nearly all this season's time, a change has been decided upon by the company, says the Herald.Pots are to be installed instead of a tank, for this season's five, and the tank will be built after the close of the fire or next summer.The construction of the twelve pots has already commenced, and Mr. Wells says that beyond doubt the factory will be in shape to start the making of window glass during the latter part of next month. The blow furnaces will be built for use with tank as originally planned. There will be twelve blow holes instead of eight as at the Utica company's plant.By the change about 60 of the men will be given work from next month until July, instead of holding all off till March and then having but a few weeks to operate before the summer shut down. After the tank is built there will be more than 100 men employed the same as the Utica company has, with a probability that there will be 30 or 40 more.The side track was completed last week, and a number of cars of material have already been set in and unloaded.The Utica factory is running at full capacity, making splendid glass and paying about $12,000 a month in wages.

ence is that of saving lives; hence the greater good that will be derived from this discovery.We refer to the discovery made by those two great French chemists, Mourguet and Gautier, of a process by which the medicinal emulsive elements known to exist in the cod's liver can be separated from the oil so that all the good part of that famous old remedy, cod liver oil, can be recovered for the benefit of the sick, and all the useless oil and grease can be gotten rid of.Thus they produce a delicious and doubly potent remedy out of a very objectionable one. It has revolutionized the cod liver oil trade, for who wants to take a nauseating, oily dose of cod liver oil or emulsion when the same benefits can now be obtained from Vinol, which is as delicious to the taste as a fresh orange?Vinol is a simply cod liver oil in a new form—cod liver oil without oil, paradoxical as it may seem—absolutely made from fresh cod's livers and the greatest flesh and strength-creator for young and old known to medicine and is different from any preparation that can possibly be made by any one else. Frank D. Hall

CAMPBELL HERE TOMORROW.
Ex-Gov. James E. Campbell will speak in Newark tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Hear him.

NO DEFENSE

Made for the Republican Candidate for Auditor Except Abuse of the Advocate.

Two columns of double-headed, rampant abuse of the Advocate is the defense the American-Tribune puts up for the Union county business record for Wright, the Republican candidate for Auditor. The Advocate's awful offense was the printing of the court record of Union county and the facts obtained by the Democratic Executive Committee pertaining to Wright's assignment, wherein creditors were prevented from collecting their just claims. No pretense is made to deny the damaging facts. The only defense attempted is that of vilifying and blackguarding the Advocate.

Yet the American-Tribune has persistently and viciously assailed and traduced Mr. Riley, the Democratic candidate for Auditor, from the very outset of the campaign. It has pursued him with falsehoods, which it has repeated day after day, on the principle that a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth. Moreover, the American-Tribune printed a double-column statement from an alleged labor leader, assailing and misrepresenting the record of Hon. J. E. Hurst in the Ohio Senate on labor legislation. The statement was a shameful falsification, but the business of defaming and reviling a Democratic candidate is a glorious cause according to the practice of the American-Tribune.

It is only the publishing of a little plain truth—undeniable facts—about a Republican candidate that constitutes an awful crime in the estimation and rule of conduct that the American-Tribune lays down and prescribes.

Hear Gov. Campbell Saturday at 2 O'clock

At the election one year ago, the American-Tribune urged the voters to support W. D. Guilbert for Auditor of State for his third term, although he had been a deputy in the same office for years and years. Now the same paper is getting hoarse howling for L. C. Laylin for Secretary of State for his third term, and then goes into spasms because the people are going to elect William Linke Sheriff by a big majority, because Mr. Linke never held an office and has made an efficient deputy. No wonder a certain Republican official said, in referring to the consistency and influence of the American-Tribune: "I wouldn't give a dime for it if it doesn't amount to a pecayune."

FARMERS DO NOT FORGET THIS WHEN YOU VOTE

Farmers, when you cast your ballots next Tuesday, do not forget that Theodore Roosevelt, who now wants your votes, in a speech in New York City on October 27, 1906, made this statement:

"MR. BRYAN AND HIS ADHERENTS HAVE APPEALED TO THE BASEST SET IN THE LAND, THE FARMERS."

"This is the opinion of the man who now wants the votes of farmers for President of the United States. How can the farmer who is not ashamed of his calling vote for this man next Tuesday?"

The Democracy of Newark township has an ideal candidate for Township Trustee in the person of E. D. Everts, the well-known cigarmaker of this city. Mr. Everts has already filled the office at a personal sacrifice to himself, but to the perfect satisfaction of the general public, and he yielded to the general desire that he should be a candidate again. No worthier or better qualified man could possibly be selected for the position than Mr. Everts. He is kind, careful and attentive to the wants of those who need public assistance, and at the same time he is careful, judicious and economical in the expenditure of public funds. The people can trust him, and they will see to it that he is re-elected by a largely increased majority.

COUNCILMAN MOSER.

Under the title of "Moser's Mud Ordinance," the Republican organ attacks Councilman Joseph R. Moser, alleging that he introduced the measure to prevent useless sprinkling of the streets because he "owns some very fine vehicles that might be damaged by mud."

The fact is Mr. Moser introduced the ordinance prohibiting unnecessary sprinkling, at the earnest solicitation of a number of Third ward citizens. The ordinance was not rushed through the council but took its course and was up at three separate meetings and if it had desired, the American-Tribune might have antagonized it long before its passage, instead of waiting until the eve of election. At the meeting at which the measure was passed all the councilmen, save two, one a Democrat and the other a Republican, voted for it.

The measure is not intended to prevent reasonable street sprinkling but is designed to prevent people from making the street a mudhole in front of their property. Is there anything wrong about that? There are other people besides Mr. Moser who own carriages in the Third ward.

Mr. Moser is proved to be a capable and valuable member of the city council. He deserves and will receive the support of the people of his ward.

JAMES E. CAMPBELL

The Grand Democratic Leader Who is to Address the People at Newark Tomorrow Afternoon.

Democrats and others in Licking county who are, and always have been, admirers of James E. Campbell, former governor of this state, will be glad to extend cordial greetings to him tomorrow. Few Ohio public men have been so affectionately regarded by partisans of every type and class as has James E. Campbell. A natural leader of men, able and brilliant, he has, from his first entrance into politics, been the natural leader of the Democracy of his native state. Three times he was elected to congress in the present Third district against adverse majorities. In 1884, 1886 and 1888 he triumphed over the enemy. Three times, by the narrowest margin he emerged victor from contests that won him national fame. Once he was the victor over John E. Little of Xenia, one of the most forceful and able men the Republicans of Ohio ever boasted of. He beat Little by a plurality of 2 votes! The district was normally 3,000 Republican. The late W. L. Morey went down to defeat before the vigorous onslaught of Campbell and Morey was one of the leading Republicans of his time. It was all of these things, combined with an incident on the floor of the house of representatives in Washington, in which Campbell put to flight in parliamentary debate and repartee the late Thomas B. Reed, that made him the candidate of the Democracy for governor in 1889. That was the year when Foraker, after securing the state organization, sought and won the Republican nomination for a fourth time and for a third term as governor of the state. The campaign was one of the most exciting and bitterly fought in the history of the state. From start to finish Campbell had the best of the argument. From the time when he opened his canvass until the day of election he had Foraker whipped to a standstill. Foraker was at that time the "fire alarm" of Ohio politics but James E. Campbell, by his keen, biting sarcasm, by his masterful and effective thrusts, turned a point against Foraker at every stage of the canvass. At that time Murat Halstead was the editor of the Cincinnati Commercial. Halstead sprang the Wood ballot box case involving Governor Campbell. Before Halstead had time to turn around, however, Campbell had exposed the forgery and had shown that among other names forged in that celebrated case, were those of John Sherman, William McKinley and Benjamin Butterworth. Campbell's exposure of the fraud attempted by Wood with the aid and countenance of Halstead, drove the latter out of Ohio journalism and from the state. Foraker, as the result of the exposure, went down to ignominious defeat. Campbell being elected by over 11,000 plurality.

Governor Campbell after one of the cleanest and most successful administrations in the history of the state, was defeated for re-election by William McKinley after one of the gamiest fights ever put up in the state of Ohio. That was in 1891. That was the campaign in which Campbell so unmercifully worsted the gentle McKinley at Ada. Campbell in that campaign spoke anywhere from five to ten times per day, but was defeated by a plurality of 21,000. Had Hamilton county done for him what it did in 1889 he would have been triumphantly elected.

Four years later, in 1895, James E. Campbell was practically forced to lead the Democratic host of Ohio in another, and one of the most remarkable campaigns ever waged in this state. He was nominated against his will when he could ill afford the sacrifice. The fight he made against odds that were simply tremendous was one of the big features in the politics of the nation that year. His speeches, dealing largely with state issues, were sensational and kept the Republicans guessing. While the odds were in favor of the Republicans he gave them a scare that has not been forgotten to this day. After Governor Campbell's removal to New York he became one of the favorites with Tammany, always being in demand as a campaign orator.

Perhaps no public man in either party has ever had the hold on the people of this state that Campbell has even to the present day. He is a prime favorite in every county seat in Ohio with Republicans and Democrats alike, and the people of Licking county will feel complimented to know that their old favorite and general in the battles of the past has consented again to sound his bugle call to arms in the cause of the Democracy here in the county seat of Licking. Democrats and Republicans alike will be glad to accord greetings to an old friend. The meeting tomorrow should be in the nature of a home coming to one of the greatest of the leaders of Democracy, and a man who commands both the affection and respect of all, regardless of party affiliation.

The Democratic candidate for Council in the First Ward of this city, Mr. William P. Efinger, is too well and favorably known to need any introduction at our hands. For many years he has held an important and responsible position in the service of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company in this city, being one of its most valued and trusted employees. He is thoroughly honest and competent and will look carefully and faithfully after the city's interests if elected Councilman, which he will be by a large majority.

Do Not Fail to Vote.

We hope no Democrat of Licking county will fail to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote the straight Democratic ticket. We do not say this because we are advocating mere partisanship, or merely the success of one party over another. But we say it because of the widely divergent principles and tendencies that the two great political parties of this country represent. We say it because the Democratic party today by its candidates and its platform, and its record, stands for all that is American, all that is patriotic and all that is best in our politics. We say it because the Republican party today stands for all that is un-American, un-patriotic and all that is worse in our politics. No man who wants to vote for his own interests, the interests of his children, and the interests of his country can afford to vote the Republican ticket in this campaign, or can refuse to vote for the Democratic ticket in this campaign, because the Democratic party stands for economy, honesty and reform, and for true Americanism in every respect. The Democratic party stands today as the only bulwark opposed to the Republican party in its mad career toward imperialism.

We have a splendid ticket from Judge Parker down. It is a ticket that harmonizes all factions and solidifies all patriots. No Licking county Democrat can question the perfect acceptability and trustworthiness of Judge Parker when W. J. Bryan is making such untiring efforts for his election. Our splendid ticket speaks for itself. Every man upon it is honest, competent and thoroughly worthy of support. Let no patriotic Democrat fail in doing his share toward the splendid victory that awaits us next Tuesday if we get out the full Democratic vote. And to this just and patriotic end we ask the co-operation of every independent Republican who is tired of Rooseveltism, high taxes and imperialism.

When Dr. McClure solicits votes on the ground that "his end of town" should be represented in the city council, does he forget that Mr. Jones, a councilman-at-large, resides in his vicinity?

HEADED

For "Hole-in-the-Wall" Man Hunters Close on the Trail of Midaugh's Murderers.

Thermopolis, Wyo., Nov. 4.—Special representatives returned to Thermopolis last night from the chase after the two outlaws who made an unsuccessful attempt to rob the First National bank of Cody on Tuesday afternoon, and who in the fight which followed murdered Cashier Midaugh.

The outlaws are believed to be surrounded in the northern end of the Bad Lands, on Kirby creek, and about 35 miles northeast of this place. It is the evident intention of the bandits to reach the Hole-in-the-Wall rendezvous in the southern end of the Bad Lands, where they would be practically secure from pursuit.

Slowly, but surely the cordon of man-hunters is drawing closer and closer around the desperate murderers of Midaugh, and a fierce battle is pending.

"Buffalo Bill," (Col. W. F. Cody), accompanied by Iron Tail, the celebrated Sioux trailer, several cowboys and his English and New York friends, who came west to enjoy a hunt in the Yellowstone country, arrived in Cody at 8 o'clock last night, and the celebrated scout was given a warm reception. Cody's guests were quartered in the Irma hotel, owned by Cody but the noted plainsman immediately began preparations to take the trail. Horses, pack outfits, guns, ammunition and provisions were quickly got together, and a band of about 30 picked cowboys all superbly mounted, outfitted and heavily armed, gathered in the Irma, ready for the start. Cody is waiting to receive information from the chase for if the outlaws are to be captured before today noon, there will be no need of his taking the field. If Cody does not get decisive information he and his band will start for the southern end of the county.

The rewards for the two bandits now aggregate over $10,000. It is said the notorious Harvey Logan is a member of the band, and if this is true, and he should be captured, the officers would receive something like $10,000 on his head alone.

ARMY OFFICER

Killed Himself for Love of the Kentucky Beauty, According to Seppenfeld's Story.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Henry P. Seppenfeld, a shoe salesman, has filed a suit for $25,000 damages for alleged breach of promise against Mrs. Eva B. Wood, a fascinating widow and divorced.

The automobile of John H. Wyeth Jr., figures in Seppenfeld's shattered romance.

Mrs. Wood is a Kentucky beauty and Seppenfeld insists she is 35 years old. She was a belle of Maysville, Ky., several years ago and was a prominent figure in society there until her divorce. She was a member of the Lowry family. A few years later her former husband died.

Seppenfeld declares that Captain Cuthbert, the young army officer, whose sensational suicide in the Auditorium annex several years ago was never fully explained, killed himself for love of Mrs. Wood; that they were engaged to be married as soon as he returned from his hazardous expedition in the Philippines, and that Mrs. Wood has admitted to Seppenfeld that she broke with Cuthbert when he returned home.

Mrs. Wood, according to Seppenfeld's bill, accompanied Wyeth on a ten-day's automobile jaunt to the St. Louis World's Fair.

INSURANCE COMPANIES

Organized Under Stipulated Premium Law Cannot Have Capital Stock.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—In an opinion rendered A. I. Voys, superintendent of insurance, Attorney General Ellis has held that no life insurance company can be organized in this state on the legal reserve plan with a less capital stock than $100,000. He also holds that a life insurance company organized under the law of 1891, known as the "stipulated premium law," cannot have any capital; that the "stipulated premium law" does authorize such company to have capital, but contemplates that the company shall be operated on money paid in by policy holders, and that no dividends or profits can be paid on any capital stock. He also holds that the general law, which authorizes regular legal reserve life insurance companies to have capital does not apply to companies organized under the "stipulated premium law."

The "stipulated premium law" was repealed by the Legislature last winter with a proviso, however, that the repeal should not affect companies then in existence.

GAS FIELD

UTICA COMPANY DECLARES 'DIVIDEND OF 10 PER CENT.

New Supply House Locates in Utica. New Gas Wells—Notes from the Utica Field.

The directors of the Utica Gas, Oil and Mining company have declared a dividend of ten per cent, or one dollar a share, on the stock of the company, payable January 1 to stockholders as they are shown upon the records on December 1. It is believed that dividends can be paid regularly from now on, as the work of extension and necessary new wells hereafter will be smaller than in the past, in comparison with the income from the sales of gas.

The Knowlton store room, opposite the Hotel Vance, in Utica, has been leased to Bevard & Seving of Pittsburgh, whose stock is now arriving. The men are manufacturers and dealers in drillers' supplies, similar to the National Supply company which already has a store there and the Oil Well Supply company, except that they handle less small goods and more of the heavy stock, tools, etc., including engines and boilers.

W. S. Hile has completed a rig for the Central Ohio company on the farm of the Williams sisters, southwest of Utica. He is now putting up a rig for the Fuel Supply, to be used by Hunt & Childs, west of Brandon. The rig was hauled there from the O'Rourke well, one mile north of Brandon.

The coming in of the big O'Rourke well, one mile north of Brandon has resulted in a rush to that vicinity by all the companies holding leases near it. It is reported that 11 rigs have been hauled to the neighborhood since the well was brought in.

Kinsey & Son drilled in a fine well a few days ago for Everett on the farm of Mrs. Enos Peters near Appleton. It is good for three millions. They began spudding yesterday on another well on the same lease.

A good well was secured last week by the Homer company on the Mary Christmas lease.

The Homer company drilled in a good well Monday on the Halbrant farm.

Roberts, Canton, La., sent a postal card request for a trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine to Drake Formula Company, Drake Block, Chicago, Ill., and received it promptly by return mail without a response to her. Mrs. Roberts writes that the trial bottle of this wonderful Palmetto Wine cured her of a chronic trouble completely. She says: "One trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine has cured me after months of intense suffering. My trouble was inflammation of the bladder and serious condition of urinary organs. Drake's Palmetto Wine gave me quick and entire relief and I have had no trouble since using the one trial bottle."

Drake's Palmetto Wine cures every such case to stay cured. It is a true, unfailing specific for Liver, Kidney, Bladder and Prostate troubles caused by inflammation, Gonorrhea or Catarrh. When there is constipation, Drake's Palmetto Wine produces a gentle and natural action of the bowels and restores Constipation immediately. One small dose a day does all this splendid work and any reader of this paper may prove it by writing to Drake Formula Company, Drake Building, Chicago, Ill., for a trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine. It is free, and cures. A letter or postal card is your only expense.

FOUR FIFTHS

Of Electric Mule Claims Have Been Bought In—Early Settlement Expected.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4.—The value of depositions in the Miami and Erie Canal Transportation company case, which were to have been taken yesterday before Judge Fuller, was postponed until November 14. The postponement was at the request of Attorney H. R. Probasco, who has insisted in the Supreme court and who was here to be heard after the adjournment.

Over four-fifths of the claims against the company have been settled, according to a report made to the referee, Otto Miller, who represents a committee of stockholders in the canal company as disputing agent, stated that of the $100,000 which the company owed claims representing $84,000 had been acquired by the committee and that the process of acquiring the claims outstanding had so progressed that the remaining $21,000 worth of claims would be settled within two weeks.

THEY'LL WAIT

Until His Enlistment Expires, Then Fred Hargraves Will Wed His Choice, Miss Ridgely.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—The unfeeling interference of the War Department prevented the marriage of Private Fred M. Hargraves, aged 27, stationed at the local barracks, and serving as a stenographer, and Nellie Irene Ridgely, aged 18. Hargraves' home is in North Adams, Mass.

Sometimes ago he wrote to his fiancée that his officer had given him permission to marry. She prepared the license and with a joyous heart preceded to the quarters of her future husband with the paper. There disappointment awaited her, for the bridegroom informed her that his superior officer revoked his permission and had refused to allow him to marry. Then the marriage license was returned. At the young man has only a few more months in the army before he will marry.

PREMONITION

Of Death Experienced by the Girl Wife Who, It Is Alleged, Was Murdered.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—A letter showing that Amy Hargensen O'Shea had a premonition of death was read before Judge Chelmin yesterday. The prosecution meantime was tightening the coils of the law about Victor Rolano O'Shea on trial for her murder. Witness after witness, former childhood friends of the girl wife and her husband testified that he was sane prior to the murder.

The pathetic letter written to Victor O'Shea reads: "I am so absent-minded and I thought I heard someone calling me several times today. They say that is a sign of death, dear, to the person thinking they are called. Do you know just now I would welcome death? Oh, dear, I didn't want to write such a letter."

Victor O'Shea, son of a prominent attorney, secretly wedded Amy Hargensen, a pretty school girl. Parental objections caused an engagement and O'Shea is alleged to have shot his wife. His defense is insanity.

GRANVILLE NOTES.

Granville, O., Nov. 4.—The faculty of the conservatory of music held a very enjoyable reception in the conservatory parlors, after which a musical program was rendered by several of the members of the faculty in Recital Hall. The program was very delightful and entertaining.

Ross Crane, the celebrated cartoonist and caricature artist appeared here last night in the Opera House as the second number on the Centennial Lecture course. Mr. Crane's work was exceedingly interesting, artistic and realistic, and his witty and original remarks kept the audience in constant laughter and enthusiasm.

TO MEN AND WOMEN WHO ARE SUFFERING WITH RHEUMATISM, CATARRH, ECZEMA, KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLE OR ANY BLOOD DISEASE I WILL GIVE

One Million Bottles OF Life Plant

These are not sample bottles, but the regular $1.00 size, and I want anyone who is afflicted to write me today for a free bottle; it will cost you nothing. LIFE PLANT is an honest remedy, and has great merit, else I could not afford to give it away. To prove to you that LIFE PLANT is truly a good remedy, I will give anyone who has never used it a free bottle to try. Don't wait any longer, but write me today.

Thousands Cured by Life Plant.

I have never failed to cure anyone who persisted in using LIFE PLANT, and I can cure you just as sure as the sun will rise in the East tomorrow morning. I don't expect you to believe what I say, you have been fooled so often, but if you will write me for a free bottle I will prove it. I will either cure you or benefit you with one bottle, our regular $1.00 size (no sample) a three or four weeks' treatment. Could I offer you a full dollar's worth of LIFE PLANT free if it didn't have merit. Could I let you go to your druggist and pick out a bottle of LIFE PLANT if it were not helpful? Could I afford to do it if I were not sure LIFE PLANT would cure you? You have no doubt tried many different remedies and all have failed to cure you, but I say to you, LIFE PLANT will cure you, and I want to prove it by giving you a bottle to try.

There is Nothing to Pay for This Free Trial.

The poor have the same opportunity as the rich, for this $1.00 bottle doesn't cost you a penny. The very sick, the slightly ill, invalids, and those who feel badly occasionally, I say, write and ask, and I will send you an order on your druggist worth $1.00 to you. Do this today for this offer may not appear again. I want to start you on the road to recovery. One bottle might cure you, for many have been entirely cured by using but one bottle.

This Offer is open to Every one Who Has Not Used Life Plant.

Cut out the coupon below, write plainly your name and address, and your druggist's name, and I will give you an order on him, worth $1.00 to you. Now, it's your fault if you don't get well. LIFE PLANT will cure you.

done in the world, whatever human imperfections may still exist, so far as the levy of taxes is concerned, we have reached absolute perfection. The phrase "standing pat", used to denote this idea, may not be elegant, but it is at least expressive.

"It would be interesting, if time permitted, to inquire what this country and the world would have been if at different periods during the past few hundred years our ancestors had thought of this doctrine and had accepted it.

"It might, for instance, have been used 250 years ago to perpetuate all the abuses of feudalism. There was much in that idea, and in the resulting system of government, which was interesting. The castle from which armed retainers went forth to battle, either for an idea or for defense, had great fascination for many minds, and it has, perhaps, added a tinge of interest, or even glory, to modern historical study.

"A great many people in the world were sure that the work of James Watt was, to say the least, superfluous; some even thought it dangerous, but he refused to "stand pat", and the world has been able to progress by reason of his thought and action.

"So, too, many people and greatest interests might have been satisfied if the world had kept to the railroad, and if Robert Fulton had never lived to disturb it. And still we in this country do pride ourselves somewhat upon this original contribution to modern progress.

"It is in the memory of many of those who listen to me that there were many people in this country who were willing to "stand pat" on the question of slavery. It is now certain that in the early days of New England history Roger Williams was forced out into the wilderness because the people about him insisted on "standing pat". Still we do not recall the act with conspicuous pride, and, as if in mockery of the doctrine, that great apostle to the Indians is one of the commanding figures of our early history.

"In fact, the whole of modern progress has come largely from the refusal of the world to "stand pat". Each successive generation has recognized the virtues and accepted the labors of its predecessors, but in doing so none has ever declined or refused to recognize new demands or to correct old abuses.

"There is no reason why we should resolve not to revise our national revenue laws than there would have been at other periods of history to stop all progress. This is especially true of abuses which become rooted in our human life.

"It is easy enough for the favorite, who, in this case, is the predominant partner with the Government, to resist any suggestion of change. But the farmer, the laborer, the man or woman of fixed income, the student struggling for an education, the poor girl supporting her mother's family--these are entitled to inquire whether or not this policy of using the law to give favors to the few, while the many are left to nurse a sense of injustice, should become permanently fixed, merely because power or corruption or a short-sighted economic policy has brought it to us as a heritage.

"In his New Haven speech Judge Parker told the story of his first case in court:

"For a number of years now I have been delivering a course of lectures at the Albany Law School. This work and the personal contact with these bright students of the law--many of whom are helping themselves, as I did when taking my law course in that same institution--gives me an interest in young men which is steadily growing.

"It is, perhaps, inaccurate to say that this work has given me this interest. It is probably due more than to anything else to a kindly act of a great Judge--Chief Judge Church. The recollection of the way his ready sympathy helped me gave me the motive for a deep interest in young men. I remember as if it were yesterday standing before the great jurist in my first case, weighted down with the responsibility of making an effective presentation of my client's case. At the moment I arose to begin my argument I feared failure. Chief Justice Church, divining my difficulty, bowed and said:

"Now we will hear you, Mr. Parker."

"My nervousness disappeared as by magic under the influence of his friendly act and kindly tone. I plunged into the argument at once. When the decision came down my case had been won as good fortune would have it, and the Chief Judge had written the opinion.

"In the many years I have been on the bench, in hardly a case has a young man appeared in court that Chief Judge Church's kindness to me did not flash over me, and I have been trying all these years to discharge the debt I owe him by treating the young men coming into court as he treated me.

"In my own experience I can recall no stronger illustration of the truth of the saying that 'the good we do lives after us.'

"It has become a fashion during recent years to exhort our young men to lead what has been called the "strenuous life." Not content with our universal activity in industry, our work in the conquest of a continent, and the effort to spread our popular ideas into all the world, and thus to make ourselves an example for other peoples who are looking toward freedom and opportunity, the coun-sion seems to have been reached that somehow we had overlooked something.

"We always had an efficient army of brave soldiers well commended. It has been so sufficient for our needs that we have been able to resist the onslaught of the savage, to ward off foreign aggression and to settle our own internal troubles.

"But this does not seem to satisfy us. We must be strenuous, not alone in all things, which make for good, for safety and for permanence, but we must be strenuous in adventure, for personal glory and even in looking for a fight. It is apparently not enough that we shall be active in every moral and religious movement in everything that can promote education, the training and the discipline of our youth--these apparently do not assure real progress. So we are invited to turn aside from these intonations of activity and adventure into the smack of the crusades and times when the moated castle was the only home in which human could be fairly said to have a right to live."

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: "Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

HOTEL

DEMOLISHED AFTER A NIGHT OF RIOTING.

One German Killed and Several Others With Italians Were Badly Injured in Riots.

Innsbruck, Austria, Nov. 4.--The opening of Italian branch, with an Italian faculty, in the university here last night, resulted in a grave disturbance and rioting by Germans, which continued throughout the night. The Germans attacked the Italian students who took refuge in a hotel, where they were besieged by the Germans. The hotel was demolished, and the building belonging to the university, occupied by the Italian faculty, was wrecked. This morning troops charged the German demonstrators and dispersed them. One German was killed and nine were wounded. Several conflicts in the streets continue. A German mob is now besieging the police station where 135 Italians are imprisoned. The German morning papers appear with black edge headings "German blood has been spilled."

sailed around Cape Horn, to start from one of our Northern ports on her maiden voyage across the Pacific, the largest cargo steamer the world has ever seen.

"It has been built without aid from the government and its every voyage, with its 25,000 tons capacity, will be made without either the payment or the expectation of subsidy of any kind. Some men talk about their interest in foreign trade, but here is a man who has pointed the way to develop it and thus set an example which may well be commended to others.

"Our opponents have the effrontery to claim that they alone have shown any desire to oppose the trusts. Their claim is as false as it is flagrant.

"So far from this being the fact, the record shows that time and again the representatives of the Democratic party have begun prosecutions under the so-called Sherman act. Attorney General Oliver began and Attorney General Harmon continued to the end of the first successful prosecution under the anti-trust law. Attorney General Harmon asked for appropriations to enforce that act. He reported to Congress that witnesses against the trusts should be exempted from liability so that they would not interpose the plea of privilege, but it was not heeded by a Republican congress. He asked for an appropriation to carry on the work in both a special and a general respect, but a Republican Congress would not grant it.

"An indignant clamor that was not to be denied at last forced the hands of the Republican party, both in the matter of legislation and appropriation. The statute creating the Department of Labor and Commerce was passed and an appropriation of half a million was made. The greater part of the money appropriated he stole in the public treasury, but the legislation served its purpose.

"Born as it was of a union between the trusts and the Republican party, the parallel of this legislation in scandalous features does not exist upon our statute books today.

"It puts into the hands of the President and of the Republican party the means of continuing its hold upon the reins of government without limit as to time through the possession of secrets of trusts which, under the terms of the legislation itself, he may or may not make public or private, as he directs.

"We know full well how the opportunity for that legislation has been evaded in this campaign. No Statute could have been better devised for the successful financing of the present election of the candidate of the Republican party or for its indefinite perpetuation in power."

In his speech at Bridgeport Judge Parker said in part:

"In our latter days, the claim is often made, not only by practical men, but by the students of economic history, that our rapid industrial progress is the result of the development of machinery. This theory assumes that whatever our ancestors did in the way of building up institutions and industry, everything is now so changed that we have now become dependent upon the machine and must be content to remain so hereafter.

"The fact, however, is overlooked that whatever machinery may have done it has been devised, created and adapted by man's ingenuity, has been perfected by human patience and industry and that it must be operated by men of mind and bone and muscle. Nobody will assume to deny that it has become an important factor in industry, but it is merely an incident, an auxiliary.

"In truth, in nothing of what we call modern progress has there been so much of exaggeration as that which relates to the machine. This is due entirely to the assumption that it is something in and of itself, something separate from the human mind and body. We have thrown over it theegis of the law, and for the reason that we have recognized it as a form of property and thus an expression of human thrift, every kind of protection which society could devise has been given it.

"Still the law remains that it has been the man behind the machine who has enabled the great mass of the people of our country to procure better shelter, more food, more comfortable clothing and to enjoy the blessings of the world which God has given, not for the few, but for all.

"During the past few years an entirely new doctrine has been preached, its logic is that whatever else we have

ROCKY FORK

Meeting Held by Democrats Thursday Night Was Attended by Large Crowd With Good Results.

One of the best of the many good Democratic meetings held in this campaign was the one held at the Rocky Fork school house, in Mary Ann township, on Thursday evening. The Democrats of old Mary Ann township are noted for their loyalty and enthusiasm, and the meeting on Thursday night showed conclusively that they are a unit for Judge Parker and the whole Democratic ticket.

Squire W. F. Holton was chosen chairman of the meeting and made a few happy and interesting remarks. Attorney H. H. Sparks was the first speaker of the evening and made an excellent address, full of argument and logic, showing the untenable position of their Republican party upon the tariff and other political questions of the day.

Wm J. Shields Jr., was next introduced and made a short ringing speech which was heartily appreciated by the enthusiastic audience. The next speaker was Attorney Rod, who made a thoughtful and excellent address, showing the impartialistic and anti-American tendencies of the Republican party under the present administration, and calling on every independent voter to support the Democratic platform and ticket, not as a partisan, but as a patriot.

Attorney T. B. Fulton then addressed the audience in a calm and dispassionate argument of unanswerable weight, in which he showed the utter injustice of the Republican party by its position on the tariff question, and as the founder and protector of trusts. He also arraigned the Republican party for its dangerous imperialistic tendencies in its treatment of the Philippine Islands and its so-called world power policy.

Mr. C. L. V. Holtz closed the meeting with a few happy remarks, in which he urged upon all present the necessity of getting out the full Democratic vote next Tuesday for every candidate on the ticket from Judge Parker down.

The large school house was packed to its utmost capacity. The audience was attentive and enthusiastic and a good report may be expected from old Mary Ann township next Tuesday.

NEW THEORY

Advanced Regarding the Cure of Cancer of the Larynx.

New York, Nov. 4—New York physicians are discussing what they consider the most important paper on cancer of the larynx ever presented in this country. Sir Felix Seizen, a distinguished London specialist is the author.

Stress was laid by him on the necessity of men who had reached the age of 10 years watching closely for symptoms of cancer of the larynx. He advised those approaching middle age not to delay on seeing a physician if troubled with hoarseness, not accompanied by lung trouble. The redness of the throat and the formation of a nodule in the vicinity of the larynx were danger signs which should not be neglected. Sir Felix said that if the cancer were recognized in its early stage it could be cured without the removal of the entire larynx.

The position taken by Sir Felix was considered a radical one, because it controverts the theories for the treatment of cancer affecting other parts of the body.

DEBARKED

From the European Steamer and the Hamilton, O. Girl Was Married a Few Hours Later.

Boston, Mass. Nov. 4—A romance of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts was happily terminated at noon when Horace V. Scott of San Francisco, took as his bride Miss Alice J. Compton of Hamilton, O. The ceremony was performed in the residence of Rev. Reuben Thomas, of the Harvard Congregational church, Brooklyn, on Rowson road.

The caretaker of the church was assisted by two gentlemen, who inquired for the pastor and on being told he was at his residence they stated that the minister was wanted for a marriage ceremony at noon. A closed carriage drove up to the minister's residence promptly at 12 o'clock, the bride, groom and a friend of the bride, Mrs.

Helen Steughton, of Dean road, slighting.

The bride returned on the steamer Saxonia yesterday from Europe, where she has been traveling.

There is an air of secrecy about the affair which has caused the society gossips to wonder. Miss Compton is 35 years old, according to the marriage license. The groom stated that he was a widower, and his business that of a traveling salesman, hailing from the Golden Gate City.

When you pay $2.50 for a pair of Sorosis shoes nearly all your money goes for quality in the shoes and very little to the dealer. Some dealers want a larger share, and so they do not sell Sorosis.
